The Benton Harbor caucuses held last evening seem to be satisfactory to all voters—who are on the delegations. But notwithstanding the disputes in the various wards the fact remains that there was a more representative attendance at the primaries than has been the case in a long time.

The friends of the candidates for prosecuting attorney and probate judge were the most active in the fight. In the third ward, the home ward of Mr. Sears, a resolution to allow that candidate to select his own delegates from the ward was voted down. In Mr. Cady's ward, the fourth, a similar resolution in the interests of Mr. Cady for prosecuting attorney was also voted down. However, Mr. Cady fared in his own ward a little better than Mr. Sears did in his for Cady secured the endorsement of his ward in the way of an instructed delegation.

City Attorney Ellsworth secured a large majority of the delegates in his candidacy for probate judge and his own ward, the second, instructed for him. A resolution to instruct the second ward for Murdoch Randall for sheriff failed to carry.

City Attorney Ellsworth, candidate for probate judge, was seen today by a representative of THE NEWS. He said he felt well satisfied with the delegates chosen at the ward caucuses last night.

Attorney C. N. Sears, candidate for prosecuting attorney, is well pleased with the Benton Harbor delegates and is confident of going before the convention with at least 25 of the 42 delegates.

Attorney A. P. Cady, candidate for prosecuting attorney said: "I am confident of 28 delegates but I stand ready to abide by the majority of the city delegates. There is no use in going before the convention divided and the candidate, whether Mr. Sears or myself having the majority of the votes should be the choice of the city."

The idea of Mr. Cady is growing with the delegates, that the city should present but one candidate for prosecuting attorney.

First Ward Leaders Divided.

For the first time in the history of Benton Harbor the leaders in the first ward were divided last night.

The caucus was called to order and Attorney W. H. Andrews was selected as chairman. Delegates to the county convention were to be chosen and a motion was made to select them by acclamation which carried. After five delegates had been selected in this manner a protest was raised and the caucus was adjourned to Dr. J. C. Cole's livery stable where a new caucus was called. W. H. Andrews was again selected as chairman and the six delegates elected by ballot.

Sheriff E. H. Ferguson and two deputies were at the caucus and it is said that their presence was the only thing that prevented a free-for-all.

Quick Work in Second.

The second ward caucus held at the Hotel Higbee last night was largely attended. The meeting was called to order by Attorney I. W. Riford. Dr. W. C. Bastar was chosen chairman, W. J. Banyon, secretary, and Roscoe D. Farmer and C. L. Young, tellers.

The delegates were chosen viva voce and the caucus lasted less than half an hour.

W. L. George made a motion that the delegates be instructed for Murdoch Randall for sheriff but the motion was lost.

A motion was made that the delegates be instructed for F. H. Ellsworth for probate judge and carried.

Some of the old line republicans who were overlooked by the chairman in his recognitions are a little sore and declare that it is worse than a democratic meeting.

All Night Caucus in Third.

The third ward caucus was called to order promptly at 8 o'clock by Chairman Seel and adjourned about 11 o'clock on motion of Attorney Sears. Twelve delegates were elected to the county convention and this was the sum total of the business. The caucus made the remarkable time of electing one delegate every fifteen minutes. The tired multitude was glad that there were but a dozen delegates to elect.

The first battle came upon the selection of a chairman. John Seel received 54 and Dr. White 40 votes. This was a victory for the Sears-Van Riper men and they were jubilant. J. N. Klock was made secretary and Dr. Tutton, F. S. Hopkins and Dr. Kerry tellers.

The business proper of the convention was then begun by Fred A. Hobbs who assumed the role of master of ceremonies. He read the following resolution:

Whereas, Charles N. Sears is and has been for some months a candidate for prosecuting attorney of Berrien county, and

Whereas, Charles N. Sears is a resident of this ward and a faithful worker in the republican party.

Therefore, resolved, that the republicans of the third ward do hereby extend to Mr. Sears the compliment of selecting the delegates from this ward to the county convention to be held the 18th inst. That he be permitted to name three persons to select such delegation and the three so selected to be a part of the said delegation.

Dr. Tutton, one of the strongest supporters of Mr. Sears, was the first to oppose the resolution. Capt. Graves previously moved that the resolution be tabled and Dr. Tutton in supporting it made a vigorous speech. He said that he had always fought the idea of delegating the power of a third ward caucus to one man and he was still opposed to it.

Mr. Plummer arose to speak and he was choked off by some one who raised the point that the motion to table was not debatable. The motion to lay on the table was carried by a vote of 64 to 49.

Mr. Plummer moved to take from the table, and he proceeded to lambast Capt. Graves for making a motion to cut off free speech. No one supported Plummer's motion, but it was discussed for nearly an hour. Mr. Hobbs and Mr. Godfrey exchanged old-time compliments. Attorney H. S. Gray defended the resolution to lay on the table in an eloquent speech. He said he was a stranger in the ward and in the city but had lived here long enough to attend two caucuses, and though he was a personal friend of Stearns, he had repeatedly complimented the ferry managers in the ward for the fair way in which they trimmed the friends of Stearns. He hoped that the power of the caucus would not be delegated to one man and thus compel him to lose his good opinion of the politics of the ward.

Dr. Tutton thanked the Lord that he was not a lawyer and could stand up for his rights. Lawyer Plummer thought this a strike at him and he hurried to remark that he had somewhere read about another who thanked the Lord that he was not as other men. The doctor was ready with the answer: "The Pharisee was a democrat and there was no comparison between he and I."

Capt. Graves secured the floor after trying to secure recognition, as he said, three times. (Hobbs interrupted, "Yes, you have applied for recognition three times and been recognized four times.")

After everybody and a few more had made speeches Mr. Hobbs withdrew his resolution. Mr. Sears followed with a speech in which he disclaimed any intention to inhibit upon the caucus his own notion of a set of delegates but explained that the idea of his friends was that his eight years' of service to the party in the ward entitled him to the recognition.

The election of delegates followed. It required sixteen ballots to elect the dozen delegates as two ballots were thrown out because Teller Tutton believed they were stuffed while there was one tie and one ballot in which no candidate got a majority.

As soon as the last delegate was chosen there was no effort to instruct as Mr. Sears himself promptly moved to adjourn.

Fourth Ward No Prayermeeting.

The fourth ward caucus was held in the armory of the naval reserves. There was a large attendance and enthusiasm enough for a dozen caucuses. Ward Chairman Cady called the meeting to order and C. J. Peck was made chairman, J. P. Thresher secretary and William Smith and Rev. E. A. Hoffman tellers.

H. R. Huntington made a motion that A. P. Cady, who is a candidate for prosecuting attorney, be allowed to select his own delegates. The motion received a second and was announced carried. Then the fun commenced and it was evident that Attorney Sears had his friends out in the fourth. N. G. Kennedy called for a division of the house and Mr. Cady said that he wanted to be fair in the matter and if there was any question he also wanted a division of the house. A division was had which resulted in a tie—31 on a side. A motion was then made to select the delegates by ballot, which was carried and the selection of delegates was made.

At the close of the caucus the delegates were instructed to support Mr. Cady for prosecuting attorney.

MRS. PHILLIPS FIRM

Will Push Case Against Her Husband to the End.

There is a new development in the Phillips adultery case today. At the time of the mail carrier's arrest Mrs. Koontz suddenly disappeared. Rumor had it that she carried with her a large sum of money—in the neighborhood of $500—which Phillips had saved up in preparation of their elopement.

A quiet search was instituted for Mrs. Koontz by the friends of Mrs. Phillips. It was first thought that the former had hid herself to distant quarters. It transpires she is in St. Joseph.

Those well informed in the case claim that the end is not yet, and that before the affair is finally cleared up more than one prominent Benton Harbor family will be plunged in disgrace.

Everything seems to rest with Mrs. Phillips. She is in possession of all the evidence and if she continues her prosecution the wrong-doers will undoubtedly be brought to justice.

Strenuous efforts are being brought to bear on Mrs. Phillips hourly to abandon the prosecution. Yesterday she had a long and somewhat stormy interview with her husband in jail. He implored her for the love she once bore him and for the sake of their children to put a stop to the matter. Although deeply affected by the plea the abused wife refused to grant the request.

THEIR WORK BEGINS.

Democratic Leaders Open the Campaign at Lincoln, Neb.

TWO BIG MASS MEETINGS ARE HELD.

Addressed by Bryan, Towne and Others—The Speakers Sound the Keynote on the Issues of the Campaign.

Lincoln, Neb., July 11.—The informal opening of the democratic presidential campaign took place in Lincoln Tuesday. In two ratification meetings, one in the afternoon, conducted by the populists and silver republicans of Nebraska, and one in the evening conducted by the democrats, William J. Bryan, Charles A. Towne, Gen. James B. Weaver and other leaders of the parties, outlined the work of the campaign in the interest of Bryan and Stevenson. Probably 13,000 people, a good proportion from distant points in the states, listened to the speeches and paid homage to the leaders of the parties to which they owed allegiance, nearly 3,000 people packing the Auditorium in the afternoon, while 10,000 gathered in the capital grounds in the evening. Mr. Bryan and Mr. Towne spoke at both meetings, although it was their intention to deliver addresses only at the evening meeting, and their remarks, forecasting, as they did the fusion of the three parties on the democratic national ticket, were received with unbounded enthusiasm. Mr. Stevenson, who is Mr. Bryan's guest, was somewhat indisposed, and did not appear at the afternoon meeting. He was present at the evening meeting, however, and received an ovation.

Bryan Is Heard.

At the afternoon meeting, the speakers were Mr. Bryan, Congressman Shafroth, of Colorado; "Cyclone" Davis, of Texas; former Assistant Secretary of the Interior Webster Davis, Charles A. Towne and Gen. James B. Weaver. Mr. Bryan spoke last, and only in response to repeated calls. He was wildly cheered as Chairman Edmiston introduced him as "Mr. Bryan, of North America." Mr. Bryan paid eloquent tribute to Gen. Weaver, Charles A. Towne and Webster Davis, former republicans, saying that he "wondered how the republican who is not tied to his party by office could refuse to leave the party and cast his lot with those who believe in the declaration of independence here and in South Africa also." He continued:

Responsibility of the Citizen.

"I simply want to say now that the campaign is begun so far as the tickets and the platform are concerned, and from now on election day it will be the duty of every citizen to take these issues before the country and weigh them. It will be the duty of every citizen to see where his duty lies. There is a privilege in being an American citizen and there is a responsibility commensurate with the privilege. If we lived in a land where a king thought for us, we would feel no responsibility for the action of that king. But we live in a land where the people determine the policy. We live in a land where the citizen impresses his own opinion upon the government, where the policy of the government may be determined by the vote of one citizen. And I want to leave a thought with those who are to vote this fall. I want every citizen to so vote as he would vote if he knew that his vote would determine the next election. Remember, what it means. You vote in Nebraska, and your vote may determine the vote of this state on the presidential ticket, and your state may determine the result. When you get to the polls to vote, remember that you are an American citizen. Remember that your vote may determine this nation's position, and that this nation will in a large measure, determine the public opinion of the world on the doctrine that governments come up from the people. For 124 years this nation has held before the world the light of liberty. For more than a century it has been an example to all the world. You tell me that we can now be indifferent to what is going on? You tell me that a man who lifts his voice against the doctrine of imperialism is pleading the cause of the Filipino? I tell you he is pleading the cause of 70,000,000 American citizens; aye, he is championing the rights of the struggling masses of the world who look to America for example. If every Filipino were to die the world would go on, but if this nation, the greatest republic of the world's history, puts out its light, if this republic turns back to the doctrines which we loved a century and a quarter ago, then to what nation of the world can the people look for hope and inspiration? So you ought to be proud that you are an American citizen and are able to say: 'If the republic goes down, I am not to blame for its downfall.' (Great applause and cheers.)

The Evening Gathering.

At the evening meeting Mr. Bryan and Mr. Stevenson were given a tremendous greeting by the crowds. Both were cheered again and again as they appeared on the platform. Mr. Towne delivered the most extended speech of the evening meeting, outlining the campaign arguments on which the democratic party will fight the campaign of 1900. A synopsis of his address follows:

Towne on the Issues.

Mr. Towne gave his first attention to the monetary question, admitting that the issue had changed in importance since 1896, but insisting that it was still a live issue, that principles of bimetalism are as true now as they were in 1896. Trusts were denounced as an inherent part of the republican administration. Accumulated wealth, he said, had already inaugurated a period of national decay, and that to the "reform forces" of the country must the people look for relief. Continuing, Mr. Towne said: "We stand upon the threshold of the campaign of 1900, wherein the allied reform forces of the country hope and intend to restore the action of the federal government to the principles of Washington and Jefferson. To reestablish by the spirit of 1896 the doctrines of 1776; the principles of Washington and Jefferson; no alliances or entanglements abroad, and at home equal rights for all, special privileges to none.

The Republic in Danger.

"The republic is already in danger. In the midst of social questions of graves complexion, to whose solution are requisite the best intellect and loftiest patriotism of this country, the vigilance of the people is relaxed by the occurrence of war whose noble inception has disguised its consequences, until within the led further from our old ideal than we would, even so short a time ago, have secured to us the possible accomplishment of a century. If indeed ever possible at all. Already we are in the very shade of the empire. My friends, if the citizens of this country at the forthcoming election shall ratify and confirm the presumptuous stretches of authority that have characterized the conduct of the administration, then we shall not be in danger of establishing an empire; the empire will have been already established."

Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Mr. Towne criticised the attitude of this government toward the people of Porto Rico and the Philippines. "We walked across Porto Rico on a carpet of flowers spread by the confident enthusiasm of the inhabitants, and we have compelled them to walk upon them in return. We are piling up expenditures by the hundreds of millions on land and sea in order to make commercial returns in thousands. We are adding to the strength of the republic by sacrificing thousands of her stalwart sons to disease, insanity and death. We have gutted our own to stand upon foreign ground. We have formed a partnership with England where we insure all the danger and she reaps all the benefit. We have ceased to quote the declaration of independence. We have grown contemptuous of the constitution. We have rechristened slaughter and named it civilization. We are putting men to the sword by the thousand, and dare to call ourselves the agents of Him about whose lowly cradle 19 centuries ago the angels of Heaven sang 'Peace on earth, good will to man.'"

Bryan Speaks.

Mr. Towne was followed by Mr. Bryan, who was introduced amid tremendous applause. He spoke as follows:

"We enter this campaign under conditions far more favorable to success than those which surrounded us in '96. But whether we win this year or not, the fight must be continued until organized wealth ceases to control the affairs of the nation and there comes again a nation of the people. I do not care to enter at the present time upon a discussion of the issues presented by the platform adopted at Kansas City. I can say, however, that it is, in my judgment, the greatest platform adopted in recent years, if not in the history of the country.

Greater Than Chicago Platform.

"It is a greater platform than the Chicago platform, for it indorses the principles set forth in that platform and in addition thereto presents the party's position upon several new and vital questions. There is no evasion about the platform, no ambiguity or no double dealing. It is as clear as the tones of a bell—as clear as the tones of a liberty bell. It deals honestly with the American people. Its candidates are pledged to its maintenance.

Tribute to Stevenson.

"When the convention came to the selection of a candidate for vice president there was diversity of opinion. Some preferred an eastern candidate, believing that he would strengthen the ticket in the east. Some preferred Mr. Towne, knowing of the sacrifice which he made for principle and of his devotion to the principles set forth in the Chicago platform. But the choice fell upon a distinguished Illinois democrat who once discharged with great credit the duties of the office. I know that some of our allies felt grieved that they were not given the second place upon the ticket, but I am sure that they cannot feel unkindly toward one who, like Mr. Stevenson, was loyal to the ticket nominated at Chicago and who is able to defend the magnificent party creed set forth at Kansas City. In this campaign issues are greater than men. I shall not ask anyone to vote our ticket merely because it is the ticket of the party. I deserve support because it stands for the declaration of independence in dealing with the Philippines and for the doctrine of equal rights for all and special privileges for no one in all domestic questions."

Weaver Heard.

Gen. James B. Weaver also spoke at some length, outlining the work to be done by the democratic, silver republican and populist parties, and appealing for the harmony for the common cause. He also paid tribute to Mr. Stevenson's record in congress.

TO KILL M'KINLEY.

New York World Tells Sensational Story of Discovery of Plot to Assassinate the President.

New York, July 11.—The World this morning says: "A plot to assassinate President McKinley has been frustrated. It was concocted by a group of Spanish and Cuban conspirators with headquarters in New York. One of the plotters weakened and sent a warning letter to a member of the republican national committee. The letter was placed in the hands of Secretary Charles Dick, who referred it to Chairman B. B. Odell, of the New York state committee, for investigation. Chairman Odell engaged a detective, who specially verified certain important allegations made in the warning letter. Thereupon Mr. Odell reported to Secretary Dick, who laid all the facts before Chairman Mark Hanna.

"Mr. Odell's report caused great alarm among the president's close friends and advisers. Mr. Odell made it plain that he regarded the plot as a matter of the utmost seriousness, and urged that extreme precautions be taken to keep the president out of harm's reach.

"Messrs. Dick and Hanna laid the whole matter before the president shortly before he departed for Canton. They instructed Mr. Odell to continue his investigation, and cautioned him to work with the utmost secrecy. To a World reporter last night Mr. Odell admitted that he and certain members of the national committee had discovered a plot to assassinate the president. "Yes, it is true," he said, "but I regret exceedingly that the matter has become public." He was extremely anxious that no reference whatever should be made to the matter. Special detectives are guarding the president in Canton."

Crops Badly Damaged.

Oshkosh, Wis., July 11.—Oshkosh and Winnebago county Tuesday evening received the third visitation in a week of wind, rain and hail. The loss to crops and other property is placed at thousands of dollars.

Battle Lasts for Hours.

London, July 11.—Boers fiercely resisted the British at Bethlehem in a battle that lasted for hours. The town was finally captured by Roberts' forces, but with considerable loss.

SHOT HIMSELF DEAD.

Fremont D. Nichols Former Postmaster at Berrien Springs Takes His Life.

ILL HEALTH THE CAUSE.

Recently Resigned His Position in the Office of Auditor General Dix.

Owosso, July 11.—Fremont D. Nichols, of Lansing, committed suicide yesterday at the residence of his uncle, John W. Dewey, six miles southwest of this city, by shooting himself through the head with a revolver, dying instantly. Deceased was a constant sufferer from disease, one leg being paralyzed.

Late in May he resigned his position in Auditor-General Dix's office on account of ill-health. He visited here for a week with his uncle, T. D. Dewey, then went into the country. Arose yesterday morning as usual, told his uncle he was going to see a physician. Later he was stretched out dead on the barn floor.

Nichols leaves a widow, who is now sitting at Three Oaks, and a daughter five years old. His father, Charles D. Nichols, of Berrien Springs; two brothers, Dr. Charles Nichols, of Urbana, Ill.; and John D. Nichols, of Petoskey; and one sister, Mrs. Walter Kephart, also of Petoskey, survive him.

Nichols was formerly postmaster at Berrien Springs, but moved to Lansing, where he was two terms in the secretary of state's office under Gardner. His suicide was undoubtedly due to despondency over continued ill-health.

HAS A GOOD FARM.

But He Prefers to Let It Go Untilled.

A fine old gentleman named LaBonte, aged 66 years, who owns a good farm in Canada, is living in this city and working upon the streets. His farm is situated 100 miles from Montreal, and a few miles from the state line of Vermont. It produces 50 bushels of wheat per acre and other crops correspondingly. Buildings are upon this farm and yet no one is living on it or even tilling it. This gentleman has a family with him, makes a good living and is enjoying life. He gives two reasons for not living on this farm, one is too cold in winter, the other, low prices for products.

Pierce Paw Lake Steamer.

Coloma, July 11.—W. A. Baker's drug store, which projects several feet over the water at the Coloma & Paw Paw lake railway terminal station, was pushed several inches from its foundation by the steamer Elite, which refused to respond to the frantic rings of the captain to reverse her engines. Although a two-story building and heavy with merchandise the impact forced it forward and the suddenness of the movement caused scores of glass jars and bottles of drugs to topple from the shelves and go crashing to the floor.

THE BOAT LAUNCHINGS.

W. C. T. U. Lady Writes of Use of Champagne.

To THE EVENING NEWS: In your referring to the christening of the late boats by the usual way alcohol your editorial plainly asks where are the W. C. T. U.'s? We at once took that patent question as sarcasm, the ergo of which we leave for a more convenient season.

However, the W. C. T. U.'s are in accord with the editorial in THE NEWS and that if liquor was only used on such occasions the W. C. T. U. would have no reason to look upon that usual custom with disfavor, but as long as it is not the W. C. T. U. and good citizens will not cease their antagonism to saloons and liquor drink beverages.

ST. JOSEPH HERALD

Weekly Paper Will Publish Proceedings of Council.

The St. Joseph city council met last evening. All the aldermen were present. A large crowd of citizens filled the chamber. Aldermen argued and re-hashed their arguments. Adjourned at 11:15. Everyone tired and sleepy and cross.

The claim of Mrs. Eliza H. Bracelin for damages sustained by her, owing to the miserable condition of the sidewalks in St. Joseph, was discussed and finally referred to the mayor, city attorney and chairman of street and alley committee for settlement.

The light of the evening was between the Press and the Herald. The latter publication has been the official paper and has done the official printing. The Press wanted a piece of the job, and when the Herald wouldn't divide, the matter was brought before the council. It was settled last evening. The Herald was given a continuance of its contract by a vote of 7 to 1. Alderman Forbes voted "nay." Representatives of both papers were present at the meeting and presented their arguments and pleas.

In a moment of generosity—a virtue the council is not often boasted to possess—a bill was passed authorizing the purchase of a brand new carpet for the sleeping room in the engine house. Bills amounting to $3,548.56 were audited and allowed.

The chief of police and the two justices filed their monthly reports. This brought out an exciting little discussion which threatened to awaken the sleeping citizens in the rear of the hall. Some of the aldermen thought Chief Morton hadn't divided his business equally and that Justice St. Clair had been slighted. Morton had plenty of friends among the aldermen. The discussion lasted half an hour—and ended in nothing being done.

The matter of lighting the lake front with gas lights was brought up and referred to the proper committee.

Herman Leodler was appointed a special policeman without pay.

The friends and enemies of the proposed pavement measure, who flooded the chamber in anticipation of some action in regard to the measure, were disappointed. A motion was carried that the street and alley committee, assisted by the city engineer, report on the estimated cost of the pavement at the next regular session. The matter was then dropped.

Everyone was getting sleepy and the council then adjourned until Thursday evening.

IN A PIGEONHOLE

Is the Barber Information Prepared by Van Horn.

State Board Refused to Allow Printing Bill.

Grand Rapids, July 11.—The state examining board of barbers was in session yesterday at Sweet's hotel, and about sixty applicants for certificates were in attendance. They came from all parts of Kent, Allegan, Ottawa, Barry and Ingham counties and from other points within a radius of seventy-five miles of Grand Rapids, not more than a dozen being residents of the city. The examination consists merely of questions designed to show the applicant's knowledge of antiseptics, of the various disease germs which are apt to infest barber shops, and of the proper methods of ventilation, of sterilization tools and of keeping their shops clean and free from disease. About one-third of the applicants are negroes.

The three members of the board who are conducting the examination are, F. M. Van Horn of Benton Harbor, Charles Rieger of Detroit, and R. M. Fillmore of Lansing. They are holding examinations in various parts of the state in order not to inconvenience the barbers more than necessary. In the examination at Jackson about two weeks ago there were fifty-two applicants, and at Benton Harbor soon afterward forty-one were questioned. Out of the entire number only four failed to come up to the requirements. The instruction book which was prepared some time ago by the state board for distribution among the barbers of the state as a means of preparing them for the examination was never issued, the state board of auditors refusing to sanction the expense.

"I have told that boy of mine time and again," said Witherby, "that if I caught him fighting I would punish him so that he would never forget it. Bobbie, come here."

Bobbie advanced slowly to the front. "You have," said Witherby, "an eye that is discolored enough and clothes that are torn enough to show what you have been doing. You know what to expect, sir. But first tell me truthfully how it happened."

"It was the Wilkins boy," said Bobby, half sobbing. "He said his father was an anti-imperialist, whatever that is, and that you didn't know what you were talking about, and I licked him." "Well," said Witherby, grabbing the boy by the coat collar and pushing him toward the door, "if, my son, you don't think he is thoroughly well licked, run out and finish the job. Anyone who entertains the distinguishing and treasonable views of that man Wilkins and who dares to raise any children deserves to have them licked half to death every morning and afternoon."—Life.

A little precaution then will add many years to our existence. Death can be kept away a long time. Happy, healthy old age will be the lot of the woman who promptly corrects the ailments which afflict her sex. In youth, Wine of Cardui will take the female child safely over the dividing line between girlhood and womanhood. As a wife she needs it to help her through the trials of pregnancy and childbirth with as little discomfort as possible. At the Change of Life it will help her over the dangerous place that appears in her pathway between 40 and 50. Then will come many years of truly blissful existence. She will grow old slowly and gracefully. To the last she will preserve that charm and beauty which are always characteristic of perfectly healthy grandmothers. ## So Says the Man Who Wanted to Marry Miss Dillon.

Now the Heart-Broken Lover Has Brought Suit for the Expenses Incurred in the Course of a Globe-Trotting Courtship.

According to the New York correspondent of the St. Louis Republic Miss Cora A. Dillon, who was formerly an actress in "A Trip to Chinatown," is defendant in a suit for $30,000 damages for breach of promise, brought by Herman H. Maynard.

The plaintiff, who is the only son of the late Pennsylvania oil king, avers that he followed the woman all around the world to compel her to keep her promise to marry him, and that after he spent the amount for which he sues, in "junketing," her love suddenly waned, and she told him she would never wed any man.

Miss Dillon retired from the stage after "A Trip to Chinatown" had closed its season in Australia. An uncle died, bequeathing her a fortune of $60,000, and she decided to renounce her professional career until she could spend some of it. It was while in Australia, Maynard asserts, Miss Dillon promised to marry him. He met her in San Francisco, and, becoming enamored of her blond hair and genuine complexion, followed her from the Golden Gate. A short time later the actress returned to New York, collected her legacy and immediately developed the globe-trotting habit.

Maynard came on, too, and begged her to marry him at once, but she pleaded for time, he declares, out of respect for the death of her uncle.

Her brother Robert, who also received a portion of the late uncle's fortune, agreed that the wedding should be postponed, but there was no intention that the promise of marriage was to be broken. In fact, according to the complaint which Lawyer Abraham Levy, in behalf of Mr. Maynard, served on Miss Dillon, she reavowed her love for the complainant and promised to become Mrs. Maynard within three months.

Then it is alleged she and her brother disappeared, but were finally located by the plaintiff in San Francisco. He hurried to the Golden Gate, only to find his sweetheart had sailed for Hong-Kong two days before his arrival. He took the next steamer, having cabled a message the other way around the world that he was en route. This message was addressed in care of the steamship on which Miss Dillon and her brother had taken passage, and although the company's agent at Hong-Kong says it was delivered, Mr. Maynard asserts his fiancée paid little if any attention to it. When he reached Hong-Kong, with the aid of his banker and a private detective, he learned that the Dillons had sailed for Calcutta. Mr. Maynard followed, and, having learned who the Dillons' bankers were, had little trouble in learning they had gone to Cairo, Egypt.

The globe-trotting lover finally caught up with his fiancée at Cairo, but she and her brother got away secretly, and it was not until he had voyaged to Cape Town, London and then Rio de Janeiro that he again caught sight of his rainbow sweetheart.

He was angry, he asserts, but Miss Dillon and her brother smoothed matters over by saying they had kept up flight simply as a joke, and promised the wedding should occur as soon as they reached New York, which should have been May 1 last.

Then the trio went to Montevideo and back to Cape Town, where, Mr. Maynard alleges, they gave him the slip again, and that he never caught up until they were found registered at the Hotel Reynolds, in Boston.

There, it is asserted, his bride that was to have been and her brother were both a bit chilly, but the promise to wed was not really broken until they reached New York May 3. The complainant says on arriving at the Grand Central station, Miss Dillon said she had been followed long enough by Mr. Maynard; that she never intended to marry him or any other man, and requested him to go about his business. The brother, it is alleged, backed up his sister's remarks with a threatened thrashing.

Then Mr. Maynard consulted his lawyer and the papers were served as soon as the elusive Miss Dillon could be found.

He Was an Odd Old Man.
Thomas Muncey, aged 90 years, died the other day at his home in Little Creek, Del. He never saw a railroad train, never used tobacco, and never drank liquor.

Inhabitants of Indiana Town Organize Night Hunts and Kill the Pests with Salt.

A plague of snails, or slugs, as the afflicted people call them, lately struck Jeffersonville, Ind., in full force, and instances are cited where persons have been compelled to move. Their first appearance was after the flood of February, 1884, but they have never been so bad as at present. The pests are not exactly like a snail, but resemble them in some respects. They have no shells and are night raiders, says the New York World.

At no place in the city where the flood water failed to reach has one of the slugs been seen, but in the most fashionable quarters the pests are numerous. In size they range from one to six inches in length, being from a quarter to an inch in diameter. It is not until ten o'clock at night that the snails come out of their hiding places, under houses, and slug hunting parties have become fashionable.

Armed with a lamp and a cup of salt, the people hunt for the pest, and when a slug is found its days are numbered, for the smallest particle of salt means death. The more salt the quicker the work.

They leave behind a slimy track, that furnishes a clue to their movements. In some places fine carpets have been ruined, the slimy trail eating like acid.

One of the most peculiar characteristics of the slugs is their ability to get their large bodies through a small space. They flatten out almost as thin as a knife blade, allowing them to crawl through a good-sized door crack.

TWO POPULAR PASTIMES.

Bicycle Riding and Golf Have Gained the Greatest Hold in America.

The two forms of recreation which have taken the greatest hold upon the American public are bicycle riding and golf. Why these pastimes have attained so great a popularity in this country is not difficult to understand; and an analysis of the elements of their great success involves an enumeration of those elements which must be found in every sport which approaches the ideal, says the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Wheeling and golfing are equally adapted to the pleasure of both men and women, and naturally bring them together for their outings. This insures the wheel and the golf club a place in thousands of homes from which they would otherwise be excluded, for many husbands will not allow themselves regular indulgence in a recreation which may not be shared by their wives, and when to the intrinsic interest of any recreation is added the zest of social intercourse between the two sexes its pleasures and attractions are multiplied.

That pastime which calls its participants into places of scenic beauty, and at the same time furnishes them with the exhilaration of interesting exercise, possesses a sure and a potent charm. No recreation possesses this characteristic in a greater degree than does golf.

DEMAND FOR BELGIAN HARES.

Numerous Shipments Are Now Being Made to Eastern Cities from the West.

Belgian hares are being shipped to the Chicago and New York markets in enormous numbers from the west. There are large numbers of rabbit farms in Nebraska, and Omaha commission men are beginning to reap a rich harvest from this traffic. A ready sale is found for the animals for shipment to all eastern cities, says a Chicago paper.

The income from some of these rabbit farms, started by children, has been large. At Columbus a boy started with a pair of rabbits and in one year cleared $200 and had left more than 200 rabbits. They breed six times a year and begin to propagate at the age of four months. Many of these little animals have escaped in Nebraska and Kansas and have already occasioned alarm among farmers for fear that they will increase so rapidly that they will become a menace to crops.

Belgian hares are offered for sale in all the markets around Omaha, and several of the big packers are arranging to pack the animals for foreign shipment. The flesh does not resemble that of the wild rabbit, but is very white and sweet.

CRAB FROM INDIAN OCEAN.

The Largest Crustacean Ever Known Captured Recently Near Calcutta.

An enormous phosphorescent crab, the like of which has never heretofore been found, was recently captured in the Indian ocean and is now in the aquarium of the Zoological society of Calcutta, says the New York Herald. This huge crustacean, which was caught a mile away from shore, is 62 centimeters in diameter and its claws are more than a yard long. Its voracity is incredible, and its great eyes protrude in such a manner as to give it a peculiarly ferocious appearance.

After it was caught it was placed in a large vessel, which was filled with sea water and which also contained about 50 crustaceans and other fishes. Two hours later the crab had devoured all these, and when evening arrived the zoologists, who were watching the strange creature, saw to their surprise that it emitted curious phosphorescent rays of a milky whiteness, which illumined the entire vessel. This inexplicable phenomenon is repeated every evening, and naturalists have traveled from many parts to witness it.

Powerful Fighting Vessels to Be Built by United States.

Sea Power of Armored Class of Ships to Be Practically Doubled—Over $100,000,000 to Be Spent.

The navy is to build warships aggregating over $100,000,000 in cost as soon as builders are prepared to undertake this great programme, which calls for 11 armored ships, practically doubling the present American sea power in this class, and for three highly improved Olympia type of cruisers. The five battleships, for whose hulls and machinery congress has appropriated $18,000,000, are ready for the builders to bid upon. Plans for the six great armored cruisers, more powerful than any ship at present in service and to cost for hulls and machinery alone over $25,000,000, are well advanced and should be finally approved next month. The general features of the enlarged Olympia type were determined last fall before congress appropriated $2,800,000 for the hull and machinery of each of them, and there is no reason why their keels should not be laid this summer.

The navy department is also preparing the specifications and advertisements for 35,000 tons of the highest quality Krupp armor, which is expected to cost between $17,000,000 and $19,000,000. The complete construction programme authorizes contracts for hulls and machinery alone amounting to $51,900,000, which includes five battleships at $3,600,000 each, six cruisers at $4,250,000 each, and three improved Olympias at $2,800,000 each. The battleships, known as the Pennsylvania class, are to be nearly 16,000 tons displacement, or over 5,000 tons heavier than the Oregon, more than 100 feet longer than that famous vessel, and with at least three knots higher speed. The six cruisers of the California class of 14,000 tons, 23 knot speed and 8,000 knots steaming radius, will be unmatched in the world. They will be 5,000 tons larger than the Brooklyn, and at least three times as powerful for fighting uses. These vessels will be armor-coated to the extreme bow to stern, and will be the most formidable ships yet laid down in any dockyard.

The three protected cruisers of about 10,000 tons displacement will be just about twice the Olympia's size, but will preserve the excellent characteristics of that vessel, which have proved her to be about the most useful type of cruiser now in the service. These three new vessels, which are to be named for cities, will have coal capacity for steaming three times across the Atlantic, and their maintained speed will be 23 knots.

The secretary of the navy has also been directed by the last naval appropriation act to contract for five Holland submarine boats, to cost $175,000 each and to be built within a year.

ROMANCE ENDS IN WEDDING.

New Orleans Groom and Bride Marry So as to Hasten to Africa.

Miss Annie Laurie Chambers, of Washington, D. C., daughter of Judge W. L. Chambers, late chief justice of Samoa under the Berlin treaty and during all the trouble there, was bride in a very romantic marriage that was solemnized at Amite City in Louisiana, the other day at noon.

One year ago Miss Chambers was forced to flee from Samoa on a British warship owing to the threatened troubles. About the same time Benjamin Palmer Carter, a young American mining engineer, in the Rand mines at Johannesburg, South Africa, was forced to leave owing to the Boer war. Mr. Carter is an Orlennian. He is a graduate of Columbia university, New York. He and Miss Chambers met at New Orleans at last Mardi Gras, after five years' separation. Last Monday both were at the Cameleas, the palatial old home of the Ogdens at Amite City, when a cablegram came to young Carter ordering him to Johannesburg at once. They were to have been married in September, but Miss Chambers decided to return to South Africa with her lover.

Judge Chambers was wired in Washington and he gave his consent. The marriage took place the other day at the Cameleas, the venerable Dr. B. M. Palmer officiating. The Chambers family and the bride couple spent the day at New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. Carter left for South Africa at night, to be absent five years.

LOST VOICE THROUGH A FALL.

The Singular Result of an Accident That Befell a Philadelphia Man.

"I can't talk. I would if I could." Thomas Callison, 25 years of age, of Sixty-fifth and Spruce streets, wrote these words on a small piece of paper and handed it to the resident physician of the Presbyterian hospital at Philadelphia the other night. He had been admitted to the hospital suffering from a broken larynx, an injury which he received in falling from his bicycle at Sixty-second and Lombard streets. The physicians considered Callison's case most peculiar at first, because they did not know in what manner he had been injured or what his injuries consisted of. Callison had not recovered his power of speech at the last report and the physicians are unable to say that he will ever be able to talk again.

Smoke

Is a most disagreeable feature of a beautiful city and the question has been discussed and cussed in every manner, shape and form, but with very few satisfactory results. Last fall The Evening News had placed in its boiler Gaul's Smoke Consumer and Fuel Economizer and in recommending it to the public we do so with a full knowledge of the benefits to be derived. It consumes the soot, thus doing away with that disagreeable features and saves from 10 to 25 per cent in fuel which is one of the biggest items of interest to all users of coal.

We would respectfully invite all interested to call and examine and see for themselves the benefits we are receiving daily. Full particulars gladly given at The Evening News office.

News Notes About the Bustling Lake Town

Strong Drink Destroys St. Joseph Family.

"A glass of wine. Only one? Why, yes, I'll drink it," declared the pretty young wife of Frank Ellison fifteen years ago.

Today the woman—no longer a lady—lies on the hard bed in the St. Joseph city jail, and in her case the W. C. T. U. has a living example of the evil resulting from a single glass of wine. Mrs. Ellison was arrested last evening for being drunk and disorderly on the lake front.

When Frank Ellison married thirty years ago it was said he had the purest and prettiest wife in all Berrien county. He was a plasterer and made the best wages of any of his craftmen in St. Joseph. A daughter giving promises of imitating the mother in beauty and in virtue, was born.

The home was a happy one until one day, after repeated invitation and almost mockery from her friends, Mrs. Ellison drank her first glass of wine.

The result was rapid. Wine led to whiskey. The virtuous wife turned into a drunkard.

Frank Ellison sickened at the change in his wife. He brooded and worried over the matter for five years. Then his mind gave way and he was taken to Kalamazoo—insane. There he remains today a raving maniac. In his raving he seems to be contending with an immense dragon, and daily he reports the dragon overpowering him.

The daughter is 25 years old now. She is pretty, but she, too, is a drunkard and a characterless woman.

Miss Ollie DeCarter is in South Bend this week.

Mrs. Leland Townsend is spending the week in Niles and vicinity.

Pomona lodge F. A. M. conferred the fellow craft degree on four candidates last evening.

Harry Murphy is employed as clerk at the Ricaby auction sale.

John Nelson, a law student of Marion, Indiana, is spending the summer months here.

W. S. Whitley was arrested on State street last evening for riding a bicycle without a lamp. Judge Smith fined him $1 and costs.

The center boards for the larks have arrived and Commodore Ransom is placing them today.

George Ricaby is entertaining friends from Belding.

The offices of Canavan & Weber and of Attorney Frank Bracelin in the Keppeler block have been joined together by a hallway. Bell telephone No. 184 and Twin City No. 320 have been placed in the hall for the use of both firms.

Dowagiac News, yesterday: Hon. J. W. Fletcher and his aged mother arrived in this city this afternoon and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Larkin, being enroute from Marshall to St. Joseph.

Fred Hamilton, who is afflicted with the results of close contact with poison ivy, is a little worse today and it is feared he will not be able to leave his bed for a week yet. During his illness George Alger of Benton Harbor is tending to the jewelry repair business.

Charles Bonning is in Petoskey visiting friends. He will leave the city part of next week for the west, and after spending a few days in California will proceed to Colorado, where he will join the exploring party of Rev. C. E. and representatives from the leading colleges. He will return to St. Joseph in October.

Levi Paget, who travels about for the Truscott factory, repairing and refueling their launches, arrived home last evening from the north and immediately left on a trip to South Chicago and Fox Lake.

The merry go round, which has been operating in this city for several weeks this summer, pulled up its stakes this morning and will take a month's rest in a local barn. The proprietor was paying $3 a day to the city for rent, besides a special tax. He couldn't continue the pressure.

HE IS IDENTIFIED.

The Hobo Who Did Baroda Stabbing.

Cronin, the alleged assaulter of young Hopkins of Baroda, had his preliminary hearing before Justice Ormsby in Baroda Tuesday.

Three of the witnesses of the stabbing were examined. They claimed to have seen the hobo when he struck the blow with the knife and they recognized Cronin as the hobo. Hopkins was unable to be present at the hearing, but on the strength of the evidence of the three witnesses the justice ordered Cronin held over for trial in the circuit court. His bail was placed at $1,000.

At the hearing Cronin refused to make any statements other than a positive claim of innocence.

Prosecuting Attorney Valentine appeared for the people.

The Philadelphia Record says that John Long, a West Philadelphia policeman, who also answers to the cognomen of "Long John," has the distinction of possessing the largest appetite ever heard of. A certain small church not many squares from the station house being in need of funds, decided to give the last oyster supper of the season. An entertainment preceded the supper, the admission to which included the price of refreshments, and fried oysters was the leading feature on the bill of fare. Two hundred of these had been carefully prepared by the good sisters of the church, and were placed in a classroom. Finding the programme rather dull, Long, who had been asked for purposes of protection, strolled into the classroom to inspect the dainties over which he was supposed to stand guard. They looked tempting, so while the audience was enjoying the literary and musical treat in the lecture room he turned his attention to the oysters. So hearty was his appreciation of their culinary perfection that in a few minutes the whole 200 disappeared as if by magic. Then, seeing that the entertainment was still progressing, and that there seemed to be no further use for his services, he returned to the station house and reported all things right at the church. A half hour later the preacher and two of the brethren arrived, breathless, and declared that shortly after Policeman Long's departure thieves had entered the classroom and stolen all the oysters. The sergeant promised to attend to the matter, and the churchmen departed. John's unusual hilarity attracted attention, but not for several days did he reveal the secret. When he did his brother officers professed themselves lost in wonder, not that he had consumed 200 oysters in as many seconds, but that he had not made away with the plates also.

THREE WOMEN FIGHT.

Settle Little Differences by a Hair-Pulling Match on a Frequent Chicago Street Corner.

Three young women engaged in a hair-pulling match at Halsted and Eighteenth streets, Chicago, and attracted several hundred persons Wednesday evening. Uppercuts and crossblows were frequent, and the crowd howled in delight. Three new spring hats were torn to pieces and hair of three shades covered the sidewalk. Three times the participants broke away, only to come together again.

"Round 1!" shouted a newsboy, as the women stopped. "Shake hands and let's go again."

There was no shaking hands, but round 2 was finished in good form and the third round was on when Detectives Raggio and Buchstahler arrested two of the participants, who gave their names as Mary Summers, 800 Halsted street, and May Natta, 292 Newberry avenue.

Before Justice Sabbath, says the Chicago Chronicle, the young women cried and said they did not mean to hurt one another and that the trouble was caused by Miss Summers lending a cape and hat to her friend Miss Natta. The latter fainted in court. The justice dismissed the cases.

Beecher Improved His Time.

Here is one of Hamilton W. Mable's stories of Henry Ward Beecher: "Mr. Beecher once told me that he never ate soup, and he got very tired of sitting through the first course of dinner, and that he finally decided that he would do something with that time. He had Froude's History of England at hand, in 12 octavo volumes, and every day when the people filed into the dining-room he sat down on a sofa and picked up a volume of Froude and read until the second course was announced. In that way he read Froude's History of England in two winters."

Five of six wild boars imported from the Black Forest in Germany at a cost of $100 each were lately killed by lightning at Porter's Lake, Pike county, Pa. They were brought over by Weissbrod & Hess, of Philadelphia, and were intended for breeding purposes, and it was proposed to turn their young loose in the forest, reports the New York Sun.

The animals had only just arrived and were still in their boxes, which were piled under a tree. When the storm was at its height a bolt descended, striking the tree and running down it to the animals. One in a box on top of the others escaped, but those below were instantly killed. It is said their places will be supplied by other imports.

The propagation of wild boars in this region is not a new experiment. Some years ago Otto Block, a wealthy broker of New York and London, whose summer home was on the west side of the Shawangunk mountain, not far from Port Jervis, turned out several wild boars in his mountain park. For a time they thrived until at last they broke through the inclosure and committed depredations on the neighboring farms. The farmers turned out with dogs and guns, but were never able to capture any of them. They were hunted day and night. They finally took up their abode in Sullivan county, where hunters tried in vain to kill them. Judge W. H. Crane, of this place, brother of the late Stephen Crane, was the only person who successfully brought down one of these wild boars. What has become of the remainder of the animals is a mystery, as they have disappeared. It is believed they all died.

MILES FAVORS GOOD ROADS.

Commander of the United States Army Illustrates Their Great Importance.

If Gen. Nelson A. Miles had his way the roads of the United States would be equal to those of any country on the globe. He tells a story of an old teamster out west who was driving over a very rough road in the Rocky mountains shortly after the Geronimo campaign. He had the general for a passenger. The wagon was an old prairie schooner, without springs or cushions, and the general was vainly attempting to fall asleep, says the Chicago Chronicle.

"But there was no sleep for me on that trip," says Gen. Miles, "for the old rascal drove over every boulder in the road; in fact, he seemed to be doing it purposely. Finally I became interested and began to count the number of rocks over which the wheels of the wagon passed or which they struck. Suddenly, to my consternation, he missed one—a huge boulder in the middle of the roadway.

"Whoa! Hey! I cried. 'Back up! Back up!'

"He quietly followed my instructions, seemingly to be not at all surprised by them. When he had his wagon in the proper position I said: 'Now, drive over that rock, confound you! It's the only one you've missed.'

"Without so much as a glance in my direction, he replied: 'Cert, pard. Never noticed it. Ain't got a chew about yer?'

"I got out and walked the remaining eight miles."

NEW KINK IN COPYRIGHT.

How an English Picture Sold to One Man and the Copyright to Another.

People who concern themselves with artistic copyright would do well to consider a case that came under my notice the other day, says a writer in the London Graphic. A picture was sold to a Mr. A. and the copyright to a Mr. B. At the close of the exhibition of the Royal Academy the picture was sent to Mr. A. who paid for the picture, and at the same time Mr. B. paid for the copyright. After a time Mr. B. applied for the loan of the picture in order to have it engraved; but Mr. A. absolutely declined to lend the picture on any terms whatever. He acknowledged that he did not possess the copyright, and said that he did not want it, but he was not such a fool as to give a good round sum for a work of art in order that he might lend it to other people. He said he bought it to look at, and he was not going to have it taken away from his gallery for a year in order that other people might make money out of it. When you come to think of it, he had a good deal of reason on his side, and yet it was very hard on the owner of the copyright and the artist, who would have obtained considerable publicity from the engraving. Probably the fault was with the artist, when selling the picture, in not reserving the right of reasonable access to the picture for the purpose of engraving; then the purchaser would know exactly how he stood.

Berries That Grow in the Arctic.

The Eskimo children have other things than snowballs and icebergs to eat. Things grow very fast in the short arctic summer. As soon as the snow melts off in many places the ground is covered with a vine which bears a small berry something like a huckleberry, porwong it is called. It is sour and has a pungent taste, and the Indians leave off work and go porwong hunting, cramming themselves with the berries. It is a lucky thing for them that the summer is so short, or there would be an epidemic of cholera.
